CHRISTCHURCH THIS DAY

LARCENY. - Maude Bridgman, was charged with larceny from a dwelling of lace and wearing apparel valued at 10s, the property of Julia Higgs. Mr Neck appeared for the accused. Julia Higgs, wife of Charles Higgs, residing at Addington, deposed that she kept a registry for servants and a drapery establishment. Had known the accused since she arrived per the Piako, and got her a situation at the Hospital. Saw her on last Sunday evening, about half-past six, and again Wednesday, when she merely called in. She went out and returned about 11, when she was not sober. (The article explains what happened and in the end Maude was sentence to seven days imprisonment with hard labour.)
