#Divorce Court - To-day Mr Justice Button and a jury of twelve began the hearing of the divorce suit of Johnson v Johnson and Bengé, in which Mr Wilford appeared for petitioner and Mr Blair was for co-respondent. Respondent did not appear and was not represented. In opening the case Mr Wilford said the case was one brought by James Johnson against Sarah Jane Johnson and Edward Bengé. It was not a very romantic one and it was a very simple one. There was no defence offered to the case by respondent; the only case was the position of co-respondent in regard to it. When the misconduct took place Mrs Johnson admitted it and evidence would be given that respondent also confessed. Mr Wilford believed co-respondent would be found raising a defence of collusion and condonation. James Johnson a platelayer on the Government railways gave evidence in support of statements made by council in opening. The witness said that after his wife confessed to him of a wrong doing on

9th January he forgave her and stayed with her for a few days, but he heard from Southee of an act committed on 19th January and since then he had not lived with his wife. Cross examined: On one occasion when witness came in to see his solicitor while this case was pending, his wife went with him, but she did not see the solicitor. She saw the solicitor's clerk. While witness saw the solicitor, his wife sat in the waiting room. It was true that witness went to see the solicitor about a divorce and yet brought his wife with him. When witness spoke to Bengé about the case, asking him "what he was going to do about the case "he was not asking for money, but was asking for information, hoping Bengé would give himself away. It was not true that on Bengé telling witness to come to Bengé's solicitor, witness replied that he wanted to know first how much Bengé would give him. He had said he "was not going blindfolded to work." He had also called at Bengé's place to ask him what he was going to do. Witness had not said he would take £275 to square the case. #Divorce Court - (By Telegraph - Press Association) Wellington Last Night - Mr Justice Button and a jury of twelve were engaged to-day hearing the divorce suit of Johnson v Johnson and Bengé. Petitioner James Johnson a platelayer employed on the Government railways, sought a dissolution of his marriage with Sarah Jane Johnson, formerly Sarah Jane Robinson on the ground of misconduct with one Edward Bengé a farmer residing at Upper Hutt. Petitioner claimed £501 damages from co-respondent. The impropriety, upon which as a charge, the petitioner relied, was alleged to have taken place on the 19th January last, at Upper Hutt. Cross-examination of petitioner's witnesses was directed to show that the petitioner had had monetary dealings with Co-respondent, in regard to the purchase of stock, and had offered to overlook the wrong that had been done to him in the matter of co-respondent's relationship with respondent on payment to petitioner by co-respondent of £275. The case for the co-respondent is in every respect a denial of all the more serious and material allegations of petitioner, and a denial that any incriminating admissions had been made in the matter. The case is not yet finished reference Papers past website Wairarapa Daily Times newspaper 21 June 1907 page 6

Laukers brothers, with a little sister, have a house and ten acres under cultivation, sown with wheat, barley, rye, and potatoes, and have ten pigs, seven ducks, and two chickens. They intend also to buy cows. Both are still young people.

Close to Ranzau live Balk and Schwass and a widow Laukers. Balk has a wife and four children, and is a joiner by trade, who also understands agriculture. He is in employ of Messrs Kelling, and has in addition two acres of land with wheat, barley, and potatoes. He has two cows, two young bullocks, thirty goats, and three ducks. He is now building him-self a new house.

The husband of widow Laukers [sic] died in this settlement: but her children are already all grown up with the exception of two, from seven to eleven years of age. She cultivates potatoes on her own account, and also earns something from Messrs Kelling.

HINKLEY miscellaneous information

Information was given to me that Hinkley Way in the Blue Mountains district of Upper Hutt was named after the original Johnsons wife's side of the family. The Johnson's family were early settlers at the south end of Whitemans Valley. By researching and compiling the various New Zealand Hinkley genealogies below I have been unsuccessful in locating any connection between the Johnson and Hinkley families.
