“A History of Lancashire”

Quote ‘A number of families come into prominence from time to time in the records. One of the early ones took a surname from Wigan itself, another from Scholes.’

At the bottom of the page is a notation ‘Scholes has four wards; St George and St Patrick the innermost divided by the street called Scholes; and Lindsay and St Catherine outside, divided by Whelley.’

A further notation records ‘In 1291 and 1292 Richard son of Adam de Scholes claimed various tenements in Wigan; his legitimacy was denied, but he appears to have recovered possession.’
