Sir

The enclosed is a Specification in the Upper Mungaroo Road from the saddle down to the Upper Mungaroo Valley being a distance of 127 chains. I beg to lay before you the following short report for your information I completed the laying of that portion of the line from the saddle above the saddle above & Stokes Valley down to the Upper Mungaroo on [4 words unreadable] the total length of the line is five miles and fifty links from Stokes Valley to between Sections 57 and 58 Upper Mungaroo I put the line between the sections mentioned so as to put the line of Road in connection with the Valley which I hope will have [2 words unreadable] as I did not consider it well to leave the Road line [2 words unreadable] the line of Road from the saddle down is all I could wish the gradient being 1 foot in 15 to 1 foot in 20 with a gradient it all external angles of 1 foot in 30 and 1 foot on 40 I have thought it right to lower the gradient at the angles named is it is at & I have points that a [diff sic] of 5 [1 word unreadable] when the [2 words unreadable] to be made & cart away the distance is always shortened I have made a Valuation of the probable amount of Construction and it is about £125. This is you will observe & the Specification includes all work and [2 words unreadable]. I hope that in a few weeks the Government will be in a position to let the work and when completed I hope that you will take the trouble to [2 words unreadable] line and have no doubt that you will find it I all that I represented to you when I put the trail line.

I remain Sir your obedient Servant - D McEwen

Manawatu Standard newspaper 15 July 1905

Obituary – David McEwen of Karere - Old residents of the Manawatu will regret to hear of the death of Mr David McEwen which occurred at Karere this morning. The deceased gentleman who had reached the ripe age of 86 years was one of the first settlers in the Palmerston district. He was born in Fifeshire in 1819. In February of 1841 he landed at Petone with his wife and one child, being passengers by the "Bengal Merchant." He thereupon took up his residence at the Hutt and subsequently at Belmont where he remained till 1868. While there he became chairman and secretary to the Belmont Road Board and acted in that capacity for many years. He was also a member of the Wellington Provincial Council for the Hutt district being a colleague of the late Sir W Fitzherbert, father of Mr H S. Fitzherbert of Palmerston North. This was in the early sixties. He was a very prominent resident of the Hutt in other ways, the work of various local bodies having his hearty support and attention. He was instrumental in getting many roads constructed throughout the Belmont district, including the old road from Belmont to Pahautanui.

In 1868 he removed to Manawatu with his family and took up his residence at Karere near Palmerston, where he resided till his death. Some interesting particulars in connection with Mr McEwen's pioneering work in this district are furnished in Mr T Lindsay Buick's book "Old Manawatu." Mr McEwen was amongst those who purchased land at the first sale in the district. His section was in the Karere district and with characteristic energy he at once began the work of subjugating the wilderness. He made the first clearing between Oroua bridge and Papaioea (Palmerston). In those early days it was often impossible to get provisions from Foxton and they were always liable to damage by the way so that the next meal was at times a very uncertain quantity. Consideration of this fact determined Mr McEwen to be self-reliant at least as far as breadstuffs were concerned. He therefore first put some of his land in wheat and then proceeded to import a mill to grind it in. Accordingly a levy was made upon the resources of Wellington and a steel mill driven by hand power was purchased and in this humble machine the flour for his own and neighbouring families was ground till the larger and more modern mill was put up in Palmerston by Messrs Richter and Nannestad. Mr McEwen also had the reputation of introducing the first dray into the Manawatu. The settler who was not cosmopolitan enough to turn his hand to any employment that might come in his way, was not likely to succeed in holding his own and as Mr McEwen was made of the right stuff, he took a contract to box some drains on a section lower down the river. He and his sons therefore went down to Terrace End to cut the necessary totara boards. The question then had to be faced of getting them to their destination. A happy thought struck Mr McEwen. A neighbour had a pair of cart wheels sent out from England and it occurred to him that if he borrowed the wheels on condition that he built a body, that it would be a fair bargain. The contract was concluded, and so the timber was carted on this half English, half colonial dray, which thus became the first vehicle in the Upper Manawatu. In the early days the carriage of mails was performed under very great difficulties though the settlers managed to maintain some degree of communication with Wellington by means of a voluntary mail service which connected with the "Royal Mail" at Foxton. After a while a meeting was held at which Mr McEwen was deputed to go to Wellington and interview the Postmaster General. The result of his efforts was that shortly afterwards tenders were called for carriage of the mails to and from Foxton and Mr Harry McEwen (his son) being the successful tenderer, became the first mailman for the Upper Manawatu. Under the arrangement entered into with the Postmaster General, Mr McEwen senior became postmaster at Karere. He continued to act for fourteen years and only relinquished office when the Manawatu Company's Railway came through, the post office being then removed to Longburn. In this district as at Belmont Mr McEwen continued his interest in the administration and work of local bodies and became a member of the Mauawatu Road Board, being associated with Messrs Snelson, Dalrymple and others in the work of local government, rendering good service in this respect. In 1868 a census of the entire white population in the Palmerston district was taken by Mr McEwen, and was as follows [list of names not transcribed] There are six surviving children as follows - Messrs Henry, Thomas, Andrew, and John McEwen, Karere, Mrs Ingle Marton, and Mrs Jas. Buick Jackeytown. The grandchildren number about 53 and there are also a large number of great-grand-children. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at one o'clock.

#Drowning Fatality - A Very old resident of Jackeytown, Mr Andrew McEwen known familiarly as "Big Andrew" drowned himself at Jackeytown yesterday by jumping into the Manawatu river. It appears that he was walking along the river bank in company with Mr Hamilton an old man who lives with him when Mr Hamilton suggested that it was time to have lunch. Deceased answered "Go and have lunch by yourself" and immediately sprang into the river and disappeared. The police were informed of the occurrence and Constable McLeod was sent down to the scene of the tragedy but after spending the whole of the afternoon of dragging for the body failed to find any trace of it. "Big Andrew" was one of the first settlers in this district, having arrived about forty years ago. His father Mr David McEwen was Palmerston's first postmaster. He leaves a family of six grown up daughters and five grown up sons. It will be remembered that about 18 months ago the deceased met with a serious accident in the freezing works by falling some distance and splitting his head open. An operation was necessary and he has never been the same since. He was not able to do even the easiest manual labour and suffered a good deal also from the injury. The late Mr McEwen was about sixty years of age reference Manawatu Standard newspaper 01 August 1908
